*Investors should be cautioned that the above estimated distributions are provided to accommodate requests from shareholders. These numbers are not final. The estimates for each of Global Value Fund, Value Fund, Worldwide High Dividend Yield Value Fund and Global Value Fund II – Currency Unhedged are based upon shares outstanding as of September 30, 2019. As in prior years, the estimates of capital gain distributions by the Fund(s) will change based on additional gains/losses realized and any change in the number of shares outstanding. Additionally, changes in the amount of dividend income earned during October, November, and December will change the ordinary income amounts stated above. Final distributions will be posted on www.tweedy.com as soon as they are calculated, which will not be before December 12, 2019. ### Important Notice

There is a pending corporate action that could materially increase the distribution amounts if it closes by October 31, 2019. Please check back on our website in early November for updated distribution estimates as of October 31, 2019.

It is important to understand that qualified dividends and long-term capital gains will receive favorable tax treatment. Below we have made an estimate of what the tax consequences would be for an investor in the highest federal tax bracket if the investor had $10,000 invested in each of our Funds. For purposes of this calculation, we have assumed that all dividends paid will be qualifying dividends and federal taxes would be 23.8% for all distributions. The above rate includes 3.8% “Medicare tax” applied to the net investment income of certain shareholders in the highest tax brackets under the Affordable Care Act.

Please note that the tax rates used in the table below do not reflect the impact of state and local taxes. Also note that this information is not tax advice and no information provided in this example should be construed as tax advice. Please consult your tax adviser for professional guidance.
